History Photoshop was originally developed for Silicon Graphics' SGI Indigo workstations. Version 1.0 was introduced in 1991. The first public release of version 1.0 was made available at the SIGGRAPH conference in San Jose, California on August 22, 1991. On May 14, 1992, Photoshop version 2.0 was released and the first Adobe Image Library was added. In August 1992, the first Macintosh version of Photoshop, version 3.0, was available to the public via the Macintosh CDROM disk. At the same time, the Macintosh release of version 3.0, the first for the Mac, also included a large number of new features that were not available for the Windows version. These included a new hierarchical Layers palette and a new File Type that enabled the importing of both TIFF and EPS data files directly from the Finder. Photoshop version 3.0 introduced the ability for users to edit a single document with multiple pages, unlike the Windows version which required editing individual pages at a time. In September 1992, Adobe added Color Match, a tool that enabled the user to quantize colors automatically from a scanned photograph. This was a revolutionary tool at the time and its use in the Macintosh version of Photoshop was one of the reasons that many people chose the Macintosh platform for graphics work. At the time, the Mac had no color correction tool in its imaging applications, making these options for Macintosh users key components of the system. Photoshop 4.0 introduced the ability to store layers in archives. Photoshop 4.0 also added the ability to combine multiple images into a single image, and the ability to selectively flatten layers and the entire document. Photoshop 4.0 also introduced a vector-based approach to graphics for the first time. Previously, Photoshop could only load raster images. In Photoshop 4.0, Adobe introduced 32-bit precision in the form of the TIFF (Tag Image File Format) used to store photographic data. Photoshop also included new editing tools that allowed users to work with curves, and layers that contained bitmap and vector data. Photoshop 5.0 introduced the ability to work with vector data, a new output workspace, an improved grid, and the ability to create animations. Photoshop 5.0 also introduced a new look-and-feel with large new controls on the menus that are composed of numerous icons instead of text. Photoshop 6.0, released in 1993, added several new

We have optimized the isolation of RNA and DNA from cell cultures by a method recently developed in this laboratory. Total cellular RNA and DNA have been isolated from a number of cell lines and some very different tissue samples, including human placenta. We have found that about 1 g of tissue can be isolated with sufficient quantity and purity for even very extensive molecular genetic studies. We are in the process of further developing the technique. We have established several laboratories in several developing countries where it will be possible to carry out studies which are impossible for laboratory scientists in this country. One technique being explored uses the CR1-containing supernatant of a human B cell line which stimulates the production of anti-cell membrane antibodies. We are studying this technique for the isolation of macrophage antigens, which are important in the pathogenesis of several diseases.

BRUSSELS — The European Union has blocked the release of millions of euros in aid to Egypt to support “the reform process” after the Mursi government was “unfairly treated” in the political process, the European Commission, the bloc’s executive arm, said Tuesday. In a statement, the commission said it had found that the Egyptian government did not act in good faith with the European Union and that the Union should not be a “party” to the Egyptian government’s “imprisonment of its political opponents.” The commission said the reason for its action was to uphold democratic principles and human rights. A commission spokesman said the blocking of the aid was a significant step. “The fight against international terrorism is a matter of common concern,” the commission said in a statement. “We remain ready to discuss cooperation with the Egyptian authorities, but we will not do business as usual.”// (C) Copyright Gennadiy Rozental 2001. // Distributed under the Boost Software License, Version 1.0. // (See accompanying file LICENSE_1_0.txt or copy at // // See for the library home page. // //!@file //!@brief common API for logging unit test failures //  #ifndef BOO

Q: php loop or foreach to delete all the duplicate rows in mysql database I have two tables: 'images' and 'images_dupes'. Table 'images_dupes' contains ID, IMAGE, DATE_ADDED, TAGS. I have also a third table, 'IMAGES', that contains ID, IMAGE, DATE_ADDED I am currently looping through table 'images_dupes' using a foreach loop, but only checking if the ID is in table 'images'. While it is working, it is very slow when a lot of duplicates are found, so I was thinking if I could optimize it somehow using a while loop and just do the check in table 'images' but I don't know if mysql has some kind of function that can search for duplicates in a table. Any ideas? foreach($images_dupes as $image) { $dupe_id = mysql_query("SELECT DISTINCT IMAGE FROM images_dupes WHERE DATE_ADDED='$imgdate' AND IMAGE='$image' AND TAGS='$tags' AND ID NOT IN (SELECT IMAGE FROM images)"); while ($dupe_id = mysql_fetch_array($dupe_id)) { $dupe_id[] = $img->get_id(); $img->delete_dupes($dupe_id); } } A: This query will list duplicates for all columns in a single query SELECT image, date_added, tags, count() as num FROM images_dupes GROUP BY image, date_added, tags HAVING COUNT() > 1 Note the use of HAVING and COUNT(*) > 1; MySQL does not support the use of the HAVING clause in a SELECT statement without aggregates.
